

Personalized oral health care

As a Registered Dental Hygienist in Alternative Practice (RDHAP) I can travel to client's place of residence and provide customized dental hygiene services.

Medical studies have shown that overall health of a person may be enhanced with improved oral health. Links to heart health, lung diseases and diabetes have been found from bacteria in the mouth. Infection and pain in the mouth could prevent a person from eating which can result in weight loss and other nutritional problems

Oral and periodontal health assessments can be done to provide the best possible dental hygiene treatment for each individual person.

Families and facilities can be assured their relatives and clients will be cared for in a professional caring manner. Referrals for additional dental care will be made to the client's dentist or the contracted dentist of the facility will be contacted.

Noel, Thank you for coming to my home with your portable equipment and helping me smile. I never dreamed I would be able to smile again after radiation and chemotherapy. Your gentle touch and caring hands have made it so that I can smile, eat and talk again. Thank you for being there for me these many months and going above and beyond to make me comfortable. I will never forget the kindness, compassion and loving care you have given me. Love, Melissa Spencer
